How secure is the Findbuch?

Our website uses the HTTPS protocol. This means that any transfer of data between your device and our servers is fully encrypted using SSL and ensures that sensitive content such as your date of birth, address and uploaded documents cannot be accessed during transmission. Additionally, after positive examination of your data and subsequent activation of your account, every piece of personally identifiable data is moved to a server, which is not directly accessible via the Internet. Lastly the aforementioned data is stored in a secure database. All our websites are regularly analyzed by expert security companies in order to guarantee and validate our security mechanisms. The physical security, network security and system security are ensured by technical and organizational measures in accordance with the latest technology.
